I believe that the settlement that Microsoft has agreed to will help our young people and not big business. Usually settlements of this type will benefit large business or the government. I am happy to see that this settlement will benefit education and will contribute to preparing our young people for society by giving them the tools to improve their knowledge through the use of computers. As an educator I am please with the decission and I am interested in knowing how our school system could benefit. We could use twenty-five (classroom size) pentium computers. Please provide any information you can. Thank you.
